

Expressions of Interest

Tasmanian.Times@gmail.com

As many of you are aware, after 18 years of devoted labour at the media mines, Lindsay Tuffin has decided to step away from Tasmanian Times.

The announcement of TT's end came on the 5th March 2019. Since that time there has been a significant outpouring of emotion from TT's contributors and readership. A number of these have expressed interest in taking on TT in some form or another, in the hope that independent media in Tasmania does not die with Lindsay's well-earned retirement. In response, Lindsay, with the assistance of his family, have decided to test the waters through an Expression of Interest process for someone to take over TT.

What you need to do if you are interested?

EOIs are open today and will be closing on Wednesday 10th April 2019.

If you would like further information on the opportunity to take on TT please email Tasmanian.Times@gmail.com and we will provide further information pack, including details of;

- Day in life of running TT
- Website analytics
- Information on Content Management Platform

This is a very exciting proposition for someone to continue the legacy of TT.

Lindsay looks forward to hearing from any interested party.

Why the EOI?

There has been a lot of interest in taking on dear old TT. Some have suggested to keep it running as a volunteer mission, others have seen it as a business opportunity. We are primarily concerned with ensuring that, if it continues, it finds the best home possible. The EOI is simply a fair process for Lindsay to assess who might be able to take on the TT mantle. If such a home does not exist, TT remains shuttered and archived for posterity. You all know money as a measure of success has never been a concern of Lindsay's, but this process is also about seeing if he can get some return for all that he has given to Tasmania.
