

Bell Bay Pulp Mill Community Liaison Committee

Call for nomination for community members

The Bell Bay Pulp Mill Community Liaison Committee (CLC) has been established to provide a forum for addressing local community issues associated with project construction and operation of the mill. The CLC is part of Gunns Limited’s commitment to open and transparent communication with the communities that will host the project.

George Town Council, Launceston Council, the Royal Automobile Club of Tasmania, Tasmania Police and Gunns Limited currently represent the CLC as organisational members. Four local residents are being sought to join these community organisations in an honorary capacity, to further represent the diversity of views within the community.

If you have knowledge and understanding of local community issues, a clear and relevant interest in the successful integration of the project into the community and the ability to listen and work cooperatively with others, then you are invited to nominate for this honorary committee.

Nomination criteria:

Selection of the four local community members for the CLC will be based on the following criteria:

- Resident in the Launceston Tamar Valley Region
- Knowledge and understanding of local community issues
- Ability to represent the wider community in an objective manner
- Available to attend meetings in the afternoon and evening
- Be of good standing in the local community
- Have the ability to listen and work cooperatively with others who may hold differing or opposing views
- Have willingness and ability to master new information, some of which will be of a technical nature, and
- A clear and relevant interest in the project.

Process:

1. Complete this nomination form, addressing each of the following selection criteria and placing your name at the bottom of each page.
2. Outline the areas of you and/or your communities interest/concern and the expertise you would bring to the committee
3. Forward all to Bettina Goodwin, Community Liaison Officer; contact details below

All representatives on the CLC will be expected to commit to the attached Terms of Reference.
