The Ceren family are El Salvadorian refugees who have lived in Hobart for the last three years. They are currently on a bridging visa, which means they are not allowed to work and are not eligible for any government assistance. They are waiting for the Minister of Immigration to decide whether or not they can stay in Australia.

While they wait, they need your support to survive.

Come and show your continuing belief in an Australia of a fair go and demonstrate that we are a community that cares.

Donations to help the family can be made at Anglicare offices or the National Australia Bank to the Anglicare Tasmania Ceren Family Appeal, BSB 087-007, account number 790 454 970

The Sound of One Hand Clapping is rated M and is not recommended for younger viewers.
