Point 1 - Establish an Independent Commission Against Corruption that is transparent, and properly resourced, structured, and empowered, and based on a proven model, to replace the Tasmanian Integrity Commission.

Point 2 - Introduce stronger, workable and usable protections for whistleblowers and compensation provisions for any person harmed by the actions of government.

Point 3 - Establish an independent Office for Witness and Whistleblower Protection.

Point 4 - Establish a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser and Barry Greenberry cases, and any allegations of misconduct in the Justice Department.

Legislative bodies should not directly interfere in judicial enquiries. However the bodies established in the above points could be granted power to investigate these issues.

Point 5 - Establish a Criminal Justice Reform Taskforce to review recommendations made by a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser case, to expedite the urgent reforms necessary to the criminal justice system.

TASMANIANS4TRANSPARENCY SURVEY

Point 6 - Introduce legislation for greater transparency and accountability for Tasmania Police, including the publication of the Tasmanian Police Manual, as required by the Police Service Act 2003, section 93.

Consultation and legal advice would be required as to even the possibility of this point.

Point 7 - Undertake a comprehensive overhaul of State Executive Service positions, and powers, accountability and tenure within Tasmania's oversight agencies and government departments, including the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions.

This would turn them into politicised bodies to be manipulated by any government in power. I agree with your sentiment however.

Point 8 - Legislate for mandatory publication of all reports by companies and consultants provided to government under compliance obligations of statutory regulatory bodies, such as exist in other jurisdictions, and all documentation concerning commercial dealings with government.

Point 9 - Amend Right to Information legislation, and the Archives Act and review the discretionary powers of the Ombudsman on deemed refusals in RTI applications.

It would depend on the manner of the amendments.

Point 10 - Establish an independent Public Interest Advocacy Centre, to replace the Environmental Defenders Office, liaising with an Independent Police Complaints Advocate and Prison Inspector.

Again I agree with the sentiment here. But if not done correctly this could potentially breach the separation of powers and/or allow extreme special interest lobby groups to hijack issues undemocratically.

Point 11 - Mandate the independence of the Environment Protection Authority and Workplace Standards Tasmania as offices accountable to the Parliament of Tasmania.

Again this overlaps extensively with other reforms mentioned above.

Point 12 - Inclusion of ethics and responsible citizenship in the schools' curricula.

Point 1 - Establish an Independent Commission Against Corruption that is transparent, and properly resourced, structured, and empowered, and based on a proven model, to replace the Tasmanian Integrity Commission.

I agree that more needs to be done. Legislative reform is required and one of the keys to this is strengthened access to independent legal services and advice.

Point 2 - Introduce stronger, workable and usable protections for whistleblowers and compensation provisions for any person harmed by the actions of government.

Point 3 - Establish an independent Office for Witness and Whistleblower Protection.

- One appropriately frames organisation ought to be able to manage these issues.

Point 4 - Establish a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser and Barry Greenberry cases, and any allegations of misconduct in the Justice Department.

- We need to know what has really transpired.

I have personal experience of the Sue Neil-Fraser case, having taken her appeal to the High Court. Reforms are appropriate and my personal position is that the UK model ought to be adopted.

Point 5 - Establish a Criminal Justice Reform Taskforce to review recommendations made by a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser case, to expedite the urgent reforms necessary to the criminal justice system.

I believe there is urgent need for broad community engagement in law reform. There are a number of areas of key concern to me including criminal law (evidentiary issues), process and cost. In addition, urgent review of the treatment of asylum seekers and access to justice for them is on my agenda.

Point 6 - Introduce legislation for greater transparency and accountability for Tasmania Police, including the publication of the Tasmanian Police Manual, as required by the Police Service Act 2003, section 93.

Need to have further information

I am unsure what this relates to.

Point 7 - Undertake a comprehensive overhaul of State Executive Service positions, and powers, accountability and tenure within Tasmania's oversight agencies and government departments, including the Office of the Director of Public Prosecutions.

I do not agree that these agencies ought to be offices accountable to the Parliament of Tasmania. I believe that the doctrine of the separation of the powers serves us well. I do however believe that arrangements, probably through the legislative council, ought to be put into place for reporting and public transparency of their

Point 8 - Legislate for mandatory publication of all reports by companies and consultants provided to government under compliance obligations of statutory regulatory bodies, such as exist in other jurisdictions, and all documentation concerning commercial dealings with government.

☒ - I would go further, I would like to see 'buy Tasmanian' first rules in place, Data produced and compiled by our Government ought to also be available for use by citizens (under appropriate license conditions) so as to spur creative industries.

Point 9 - Amend Right to Information legislation, and the Archives Act and review the discretionary powers of the Ombudsman on deemed refusals in RTI applications.

Point 10 - Establish an independent Public Interest Advocacy Centre, to replace the Environmental Defenders Office, liaising with an Independent Police Complaints Advocate and Prison Inspector.

Require further information

This is an interesting idea, and I would certainly be interested in seeing more detail.

Point 11 - Mandate the independence of the Environment Protection Authority and Workplace Standards Tasmania as offices accountable to the Parliament of Tasmania.

☒ - I do not think it is appropriate to target individual offices. Any changes to any person's contracted job conditions or roles must be done in full consultation and with a view to improving services to the public.

Point 12 - Inclusion of ethics and responsible citizenship in the schools' curricula.

Require further information

It has been my experience that many schools focus very well on responsible citizenship and ethics. I would like to know more about where we think there may be a problem before we put additional loads onto hardworking teachers (and kids).

Point 1 - Establish an Independent Commission Against Corruption that is transparent, and properly resourced, structured, and empowered, and based on a proven model, to replace the Tasmanian Integrity Commission.

☒ - I will as a matter of course introduce an anti crime corruption and ethics commission

Point 2 - Introduce stronger, workable and usable protections for whistleblowers and compensation provisions for any person harmed by the actions of government.

Point 3 - Establish an independent Office for Witness and Whistleblower Protection.

I support protection but am not convinced that a separate Office is necessary.

☒ - I believe that the crime & corruption commission can deal with that.

More information required.

Point 4 - Establish a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser and Barry Greenberry cases, and any allegations of misconduct in the Justice Department.

The courts have made this decision

More information required.

Point 5 - Establish a Criminal Justice Reform Taskforce to review recommendations made by a Commission of Inquiry into the Sue Neill-Fraser case, to expedite the urgent reforms necessary to the criminal justice system.

☒ - Although the case needs review we do not have the resources to have to many authorities, thus I believe that true policing and corruption bodies will be enough to bring the truth to the fore.

More information required.

Point 10 - Establish an independent Public Interest Advocacy Centre, to replace the Environmental Defenders Office, liaising with an Independent Police Complaints Advocate and Prison Inspector.

☒ - should come under the crimes and corruption commissioner

EDO operates in a different area than the other Policing complaints and Prison inspections so what is the benefit of

Point 11 - Mandate the independence of the Environment Protection Authority and Workplace Standards Tasmania as offices accountable to the Parliament of Tasmania.

☒ - I believe that all public servants need to understand they are servants of the public and need to be under a performance based review and employment conditions

Point 12 - Inclusion of ethics and responsible citizenship in the schools' curricula.

☒ – But be careful that we do not allow for a one sided training of our youth. we need them to have the tools and ability to make up their own minds without unfair influence.
