

You are warmly invited to the launch of Undertow by Susan Austin, published by Walleah Press.

Undertow will be launched by Gina Mercer

Thursday 11th October 2012

5:30pm

The Hobart Bookshop, Salamanca Place.

Free drinks and nibbles.

"Susan Austin's poems penetrate to the core of the human condition: the dysfunctional, the erotic, the often unnoticed magic of the everyday. Her perceptions are acute and originally presented, but what really stands out is the compassion which informs her celebration of the variousness of this world." - Tim Thorne

"Austin has perfected the art of drawing the simplest words into the service of her compelling revelations, and her book is an impressive debut achievement." - Cameron Hindrum

If you are unable to make it but would like to purchase the book, you may buy it from Susan in person, from the bookstall at the Tasmanian Poetry Festival, at some good bookshops (such as The Hobart Bookshop) or via secure Paypal or credit card payment at her website: www.susanaustinpoetry.blogspot.com.au. It will also be available from www.walleahpress.com.au.
