

Friday 2 Oct: Lunchtime in Launceston

1 What a day for a walk along the beach ... sunshine ... sand ... blue skies ... beautiful gals ... deep in the heart of Launceston.

2 The Wildos have done it again! A beautiful spring day is a good time to send a message. Burnham Woods has come to Dunsinane Castle.

3 They took Bartlett's line of sand to Minister Michelle O'Byrnes office, dumped it on her steps, drew a line in it and called on David Bartlett to honour his promises to Tasmanians.

4 We have drawn our own line in the sand. We are ordinary people from around the state, young and old and we have drawn our own line in the sand.

5 Where is the Minister? Where is her Department? We wait, expectantly, but ... no Minister!

6 Could you balance pulp mill profits with human health?

7 Give him a future, not a Gunns ALP pulp mill in our Tamar.

8 The Gods of the Tamar agree: the People come First! Their green fields saw the birth of our independence, saw an end to transportation. The People come First! No ALP Pulp Mill, No Way!
